

Caidyn Spickler

Dear Caidyn,

On behalf of the Admissions Committee, it is my pleasure to offer you admission to the MIT Class of 2026! You stood out as one of the most talented and promising students in one of the most competitive applicant pools in the history of the Institute. Your commitment to personal excellence and principled goals, even during a year full of challenges and disruption, has convinced us you will both contribute to our diverse community and thrive in our academic environment. We think that you and MIT are a great match.

You have until May 2, 2022 to let us know if you'll call MIT your home for the next four years. Until then, we look forward to helping you get to know us better. We are excited to invite you to join us for Campus Preview Weekend, one of the most fun and informative ways to discover all that MIT has to offer! We are currently planning for CPW to be in person; however, we are monitoring health conditions and may need to adjust our plans if appropriate. We will share more details with you over the coming months.

MIT's mission is to educate students in science, technology, and other areas of scholarship, to best prepare them to solve the world's greatest challenges. Make no mistake, the rigor here is real, but so is the excitement of discovery, both inside and outside the classroom. The ways that students collaborate and help each other, especially in these unprecedented times, are varied and many.

I hope you'll agree with us that MIT is the perfect place to prepare for your future. As a member of our community, you'll join builders, scholars, entrepreneurs, and humanitarians. Together, you will make a true difference in a world that desperately needs you.

Many congratulations, best wishes for a wonderful—and safe—holiday season, and welcome to MIT! Now stop reading this and go celebrate!

Warmly,

Stuart Schmill
